37 Leading Companies Join Axis For Innovative Industry Showcase Events

Axis shines the light on new software and technologies with 2015 showcase event

Axis Communications, the global market leader in network video has unveiled the dates for two events showcasing some of the leading companies in the network video industry, covering a number of different areas including business management applications, hardware and technology, physical access controls, security applications, transmission and storage and video management software.

The open days, which will this year be held at two locations – in the UK on 24 November 2015 and at Axis Communications HQ, Lund, Sweden on 26 November 2015 - offer the chance to meet over 35 leading software and technology providers, all in one day and under one roof.

Visitors will be able to learn about the latest developments and opportunities in all areas of network video including video analytics, business intelligence and associated technologies, through demonstrations of real-life applications and solutions delivered by some of Axis' key development partners.

All of the exhibiting companies are members of the Axis Application and Technology Partner Programmes which has been running for 15 years and is designed to offer members of the Axis Channel partner programme access to leading innovation and technologies.

This year's event will be the largest of its kind in the UK and Sweden and will shine a light on the Axis partner eco system helping customers, both existing and new, to understand how the partner relationships deliver the highest quality solutions to the meet the needs of the end user. Doug Adams, Axis Business Development Manager for the Application Development Programme and Technology Partner Programme explained the value of the events: "We're very excited about this year's events. This event will showcase more of our partner eco system than ever before, helping everyone involved to better understand the enhanced offerings available and how to maximise the opportunities available through providing best of breed solutions.

"Recent developments mean that network video now offers the potential to move into new areas outside of the traditional domain of safety and security, this event will provide an opportunity to network with the companies who are driving these changes."

The event is open to installers, system integrators, consultants, end users and anyone who would benefit from the opportunity to see how Axis and its partners can provide solutions to meet their surveillance and business requirements.

The showcase events will be held over two days in two countries within Northern Europe - day 1 in Sopwell House, St Albans, Hertfordshire, UK and day 2 at Axis HQ, Lund, Sweden. The format will be an informal drop in day starting at 10am and finish around 4pm. There will be more than 35 partners showing solutions covering multiple applications.
