CHELMSFORD, Mass. – Oct. 21, 2009 – Axis Communications, the global leader in the network video market, today announced that it has named David Piekłowski to serve as regional sales manager, Western Canada.

Piekłowski will be responsible for building and maintaining relationships with information technology (IT) and security integrators in Western Canada for Axis. He will be based in Vancouver and will report directly to Robert Moore, country manager, Canada.

Piekłowski has more than 10 years of experience in the security and IT industries. Most recently, he was business development manager of Bosch Security Systems. Among his previous positions, he also served as district channel manager for Vancouver-based Maximizer Software and account manager for Richmond-based TLD Information Technology Specialist.

He is a graduate of the British Columbia Institute of Technology.

“Dave is well acquainted with the security needs of our Canadian customers and we are pleased to have him as part of our team,” said Moore. “Working with our partners, he will be responsible for maintaining the rapid growth Axis is experiencing in Canada.”

Axis first expanded into Canada in January 2005. Since then, demand for network video products in Canada has grown substantially. Axis’ market leading network cameras and video encoders are used in educational, retail, transportation and governmental installations throughout Canada. Unlike analog systems, network video systems eliminate the need for expensive coaxial cabling because they utilize Ethernet for video transport over local area networks (LANs) and the Internet. In addition, network video systems use standard PC server hardware for monitoring and recording video, which provides a cost-efficient and scalable architecture that is suitable for a system of any size.
