

Product Discontinuation Statement

This document outlines Axis products that have been discontinued or will be discontinued, OBSERVE that in this case the reason for discontinuation is an upgrade of the product to Mark II (Mark 2). The only difference between the old product and the new is that in Q7424-R Mk II we also support 100 Mbps when using the SFP slot. The previous model supported only 1 Gbps when using the SFP slot.

The products covered by this statement are:

- AXIS Q7424-R Video Encoder, all sales articles

Final Order Date

Since this is an up-date there is no final date, we will continue to sell new and old version until we run out of old version. When that happening all order for old version shall be transformed to the new Mk II version.
