- 2.1 The applicable license type is either Axis Subscription Model or License Tied to Hardware as follows:
 - 2.1.1 For AXIS Audio Manager Pro distributed standalone, without being preloaded or otherwise tied to an Axis Product, the Axis Subscription Model as set out in the Axis General License Agreement applies.
 - 2.1.2 For (a) AXIS Audio Manager Pro that comes preloaded in an Axis Product or (b) licenses for AXIS Audio Manager Pro that are purchased separately but are tied to an Axis Product, the Software License Tied to Hardware as set out in the Axis General License Agreement applies. Notwithstanding anything to the contrary in the Axis General License agreement, the Use Term for this license type is the lifetime of the server hardware for the Axis Product to which the license is tied. If a major component of the server hardware is replaced or becomes nonfunctional, or if the Axis Product’s ID is otherwise compromised, the Usage Rights will expire. However, the Usage Rights will not expire if the replacement of a major component is performed as part of the onsite-support service during the warranty period of the Axis Product. In the case of RMA, the

The API allows customers to programmatically interact with an existing AXIS Audio Manager Pro installation. The API is disabled by default and needs to be actively enabled by You if You wish to use it. For the avoidance of doubt, nothing in the Axis General License Agreement shall be construed as preventing or prohibiting the use of this API with AXIS Audio Manager Pro.
