Summary

Dave Lester Mondina (kakashi1337) from Genki Tech Labs, a member of the AXIS OS Bug Bounty Program, has discovered an issue related to improper shell quote escaping when processing user-controlled input, potentially allowing command injection, which could lead to privilege escalation. This flaw can only be exploited after authenticating with an admin-privileged service account.

To Axis' knowledge, no known exploits exist publicly as of today and Axis is not aware that this has been exploited. Axis will not provide more detailed information about the vulnerability. We appreciate the efforts of security researchers and ethical hackers on improving security in Axis products, solutions, and services.

The vulnerability has been assigned a 6.5 (Medium) severity by using the CVSSv3.1 scoring system. CWE-1287: Improper Validation of Specified Type of Input has been assigned by using the CWE mapping. Learn more about the Common Vulnerability Scoring System and the Common Weakness Enumeration mapping here and here.
